

SFM loss prevention services

SFM distinguishes itself by helping employers prevent workplace injuries and reduce workers' compensation costs. SFM does this by first identifying hazards and, then, finding practical, creative solutions.

SFM's approach to injury prevention is delivering personal, customer-focused service that gets results. A dedicated SFM loss prevention representative works with a policyholder to assess needs and develop a service plan including action steps to improve major loss source areas.

SFM services

A tailored SFM service plan may include the following services:

- Hiring and employment recommendations, related to fitness for duty
- Leadership education
- Safety program reviews
- On-site safety audits
- Ergonomic evaluations
- Occupational noise exposure sampling
- Safety and risk management-related research
- Safety committee assistance
- Return-to-work program development and enhancement

- Accident statistic analysis and loss mapping and trending
- Internal safety communications assistance
- Employee safety education:
 - Back injury prevention / body mechanics
 - Physical, chemical & biological safety
 - Ergonomics—office, shop, vehicle, etc.
 - Behavior-based safety
 - Accident/incident reporting
 - Compliance information
 - And more...
- Loss prevention resources including:
 - Extensive DVD lending library
 - Web-based safety training service
 - CompNotes—resource for schools
 - 5-Minute Solutions—Mini training talks
 - Safety-in-a-Box training systems
 - Standard and customized safety posters
 - Online resource catalog at www.sfmic.com

SFM Loss Prevention services are part of its full-service workers' compensation package—available at no additional cost to policyholders.